

Rosie Tomkins

Co-founder of Natural Capital Consultants Ltd

Undoubtedly Rosie's greatest gift to the business arena, is her entrepreneurial flair and creative leadership skills. She started her own lifestyle company in 1989, which she successfully led as Managing Director for over 10 years. It offered adventure, sporting breaks and specialist holidays to both high-worth individuals and corporate clients.

Rosie then researched and pro-actively targeted likely buyers, with the positive outcome of negotiating the sale of her business to one of the UK's fastest moving and dynamic PLC's. She was subsequently invited to join the board of directors and launched an innovative range of products nationwide to over 120,000 members across 42 health clubs.

In 2002 she was head-hunted to become a Director of a new start-up company Evo-olution Ltd. The idea behind this venture was to initiate inspirational leadership programmes for women in middle and senior management. Clients included those in the blue-chip legal and financial sectors, such as Lovells & Citigroup target and professional bodies like The Royal College of Surgeons.

Her final position before the formation of Natural Capital was to become a business consultant with a new exciting Australian Company who were looking for key personnel in the South West to penetrate the local marketplace. During this last appointment Rosie has amassed a comprehensive knowledge of learning philosophies, technologies as well as experiencing the practical implementation.
